Closing of Road in B. C. Side to Allow Reconstruction Work Necessitates Use of Old Road

It is reported (unofficially) that the old trail over the summit from Alberta into British Columbia will be used for two months during the time that the present Red Trail is being straightened out on the B. C. side. At present the Red Trail in the vicinity of Crows Nest station and beyond winds around the mountains on a very narrow shelf on which cars pass at certain places made for the purpose by blasting away the rock. It has always been a source of apprehension for nervous drivers, and the work now proceeding will make the road safe and give a feeling of security to motorists. The scenic beauty of the route has proved an attraction to thousands of tourists and the people of the Pass towns, and with the gravelling completed set to Macleod many more will take advantage of the Crow route through the Rockies.

MINING STUDENTS IMPRESSED WITH ROCKIES

A party of seventeen students in mining and metallurgy from McGill university came in by C.P.R. on Monday morning, spending two days here in going over the mines. They were travelling in a special coach, and from here proceeded to Kimberley and Trail. They considered this a much more attractive country than the mining region they had visited around Sudbury, Ont. The system of coal mining here from pitching seams proved very interesting to them, and they expressed themselves as having had plenty of exercise in their tramp around the mine workings.

Mrs. J. H. Boulton returned last week from her visit to Wales, and was accompanied from Perth, Ont., by Mrs. Hewitt, mother of Mr. Boulton, after a visit at North Bay with relatives. Mrs. Hewitt made a visit to the west in 1912, and notices a great change in the development of the country, since that time, stating that places on the prairies which were then just shack towns now have fine buildings.

Hotel Longfellow Built

This hotel, the New Pines at Digby, N.S., was built by Longfellow. Not, however, that he saw it, thought about it or even dreamed or imagined it. What he did do towards it was render immortal the land of Evangeline, the beautiful Annapolis Valley of which Digby is the gateway, and so create a tourist lure.

The New Pines is being built by the Dominion Atlantic Railway to further aid in the development of tourist traffic in the Maritimes and, with the exception of the outdoor swimming pool, the lines for which were borrowed from those at Bass and Lake Louise, it is a handsome building of early English type of architecture. The opening of the Pines will shortly precede a three day festival at Annapolis Royal in commemoration of the three-hundredth anniversary of the arrival there of Sir William Alexander's Scottish colonists under the charter of New Scotland granted by King James I.

HEATED CONVERSATION

Quite a racket was heard on Main street in the bright sunny hours of Monday morning, but it was nothing serious—just some of the local Scots having a discussion on the football games in the Old Country. Now that warmer weather is here, the open-air club on the corner is a favorite spot to "chew the rag."

SCOTS GATHER IN WEST FOR TRIP TO HOME

Hundreds of pilgrims of Scottish descent are expected to gather at Calgary, Edmonton, Winnipeg and other points in the Canadian west this summer and travel to Montreal, where they will embark on the Scottish steamer Athenia of the Anchor-Donaldson line, sailing July 26 for Glasgow, according to Alfred Hoyle, of the Calgary office of the Associated Cunard and Anchor-Donaldson lines.

He will personally conduct this Scottish excursion. Many ex-servicemen are planning to join the tour, which will devote several weeks to the places of interest and beauty in the old country.

Mr. Hoyle was chosen to lead the group of Canadian tourists as he is a well-known war veteran and has served with the London Scottish, or 1st 14th London regiment, and the Gordon Highlanders. He also spent twelve years with the passenger department of the famous old North British railway, now the celebrated London and Northeastern railway.

FUNERAL OF JOHN PETERSON

The death occurred on May 3rd of Johan Peterson, aged 69 years, of pneumonia. He came to Canada about five years ago from Sweden, and lived in Graftonville, his wife having died before he came here. Mrs. Eric Gudmundson is a daughter.

The funeral was held on Sunday, the service being held at St. Alban's church, the Rev. A. D. Currie officiating. The pallbearers were J. Goulding, E. Hill, G. Booth, E. X. Hill, A. Fry and Salvador Ribas.

WILL PRESENT MORE PLEASING APPEARANCE

It is reported that contracts for painting various buildings have been awarded, including the United church and manse, the entrance schools and several business places. The painting of a number of buildings occupying prominent places will be a decided improvement in the appearance of the centre of the town, which under existing conditions presents a very dowdy and run-down appearance. A few buildings, glistening with new paint will possibly give others an incentive to do likewise.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lonsbury left on Wednesday morning for Vancouver, and it is expected they will later move to California to live. Mrs. Lonsbury was engaged in the nursing profession, and last year was instructor to the girls' First Aid team which won the first prizes in the district competitions, her success being the more noteworthy when it is remembered the girls of the team were first-year competitors, without previous experience.

THE BUNDLE ON THE DOOR-STEP

We have often wondered who was the weary, desperate woman who hovered near Grace Hospital on that wintry evening, and laid her little shawl-clad babe in the hallway, and then, we imagine, stayed in the near distance to see who would lift that huddled bundle. A weird heap she looked, wee Gracie Hall as they afterwards called her, and the kindly nurse who espied her lying there, and lifting her up, heard her beseeching wail, had no other thought than to turn indoors again, and see that she was taken to the soul and heart of that ever-hospitable institution.

We have no doubt that the unhappy mother sometimes thinks with a fond (Continued on Page Eight)

Radio—An Agency For Peace

The sittings now being held by the Royal Commission on Radio appointed by the Dominion Government to study the whole question of broadcasting, and make report to the Government as to best policy for Canada to adopt in the national interests of the whole Dominion, is having the effect of directing attention from the purely local and entertainment features of this latest of great modern discoveries and causing people to appreciate more fully the tremendous possibilities of aerial communication, both in a national and international sense.

While undoubtedly there is a feeling of regret in Canada that, because of natural causes, it is much easier for people in Western Canada to "listen in" on stations in the Central Western States than it is to "get" stations in Eastern Canada, and for Eastern Canadian listeners to receive the programmes broadcast from New York, Philadelphia, and other Eastern United States cities than it is for them to "tune in" on Western Canadian Stations—a condition for which it is hoped the present Radio Commission can find some solution, the fact remains that a closer community of interest between Canada and the United States, and consequently a still better understanding, is being developed by means of the radio. And community of interest and understanding is the greatest of all bulwarks to Peace.

But to many in this country it will come as a welcome surprise to learn of the great strides made by radio in Europe and the effect it is having in promoting greater understanding among the diverse nationalities and languages of that war-afflicted continent. It is almost inconceivable that within less than eleven years of the signing of the Armistice ending the Great War, the radio should be used in Germany and England to teach the people, not merely school children but adults, the French language; that international "hook-ups" of Germany, Poland, Austria, Hungary, France, and other countries are being regularly carried out, so that people in Paris and Warsaw can listen to German concerts in Berlin and Hamburg, and the German people can enjoy the opera in Paris, or a great symphony orchestra in Vienna or Budapest.

There are some good people in Canada who still retain the old fashioned idea that it is unpatriotic, and liable to undermine British institutions in this country, if children are taught in our schools to speak and read French, German, or any language but English. In entertaining such ideas Canadians are far behind the times; they are not nearly so far advanced as they are in England and other countries where the learning of foreign languages is compulsory. If every Canadian child, whether of British or French descent, was obliged to learn both English and French, Canada would in a generation become more powerful, influential and prosperous. It would open up to our people the rich literature of both races; it would give us greater prestige among all nations; it would help to promote our export trade in all the markets of the world. In this Canada, by reason of its two great races, has an opportunity no other nation enjoys, yet we are not only neglecting it, but many people urge that it would be disloyal to our British connection to encourage it. Yet Britain herself is doing it.

It is predicted that within three years, five years at the most, Canadians will, through the development of national broadcasting at home, and the use of the beam system of wireless across the ocean, be able to sit in their homes and "listen in" on the finest programmes in the world broadcast from London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, and other European centres of culture, art and music.

We can now speak with Europe by telephone from the heart of Canada's prairies, and the day is fast approaching, in those in a position to know authoritatively state, when by radio we will be in more or less constant communication with Europe, receiving the best they have to offer in public addresses, vocal and instrumental music, and the important news of the day. In turn, Canada will be brought equally close to them. And, in all probability, "seeing" Europe and European happenings through the instrumentality of the radio will more or less rapidly follow "hearing," just as, in reverse order, the "seeing" picture has followed the silent film, and the "hearing" of the voice has followed the silent picture.

And these things are all to the good, in the cause of world peace. As we know people and understand them our prejudices and suspicions are removed. We learn they are human just like ourselves; that they have high ideals and are inspired by lofty motives; that they love the things we love, and hate the unclean, the ugly, the vicious, just hate them. As we come to understand their problems, difficulties and aspirations, and they come to understand ours, mutual sympathy will develop, followed by a desire for co-operation, rather than antagonism.

It is only so, through mutual understanding, that permanent world peace can be maintained and the maximum of true progress be made.

Measuring Lightning Flash

No Part Of It Ever Lasts For Appreciable Time.

A lightning flash takes about one-seventh of a second to complete itself and no part of it lasts more than approximately one-thirty-fifth of a second. This is the first time in history that the speed of a lightning flash has been measured. It has also been proved that lightning starts from the clouds and the ground at nearly the same instant, and approximately one-seventh of a second later the two ends unite in mid-air. These facts were determined by Dr. C. U. Boys, a British physicist, who has been attempting hundreds of photographs for the last twenty-six years, until a stroke of lightning in New York at last gave him this information.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

Cannot Be Rubbed Out — The Trouble Must Be Treated Through the Blood

The pain of rheumatism is something that you cannot rub out. Every sufferer from rheumatism has been advised to rub this or that ointment or oil on the affected part, but after all the rubbing the pain remained. This blood and rheumatism come together and if they are properly treated will go together. Anemia means thin blood, and thin blood is something that cannot be rubbed out, why not build up the blood until the rheumatic poisons are driven out? This is exactly what is done in the treatment of rheumatism with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Rheumatism in any form shows improvement as the thin blood is built up, and when the poisons in the blood are overcome and driven out rheumatism disappears and does not return so long as the blood is kept rich and red. The great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the treatment of rheumatism is proved by the case of Mr. Thomas Martin, of Nova Scotia, who says:—"For some years I was so badly troubled with rheumatism that I could hardly walk and suffered great pain. I had medical treatment but did not get much relief. Then I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking the pills for some time the trouble disappeared and has not since shown the least sign of returning."

You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Attractions For Tourists

Vast Extent Of Canada Offers Visitors Interesting Holiday

Canada has a million square miles of forest, countless lakes and thousands of miles of rivers and bays, providing the finest hunting, fishing, canoeing and camping. The vast extent of Canada and the diversity of conditions in different sections make it difficult for the prospective visitor who is not familiar with the country to decide which particular section interests him most. To overcome this the Department of the Interior has published "Vacations in Canada," a 96-page handbook which sets forth the attractions which Canada offers to tourists and sportsmen. This booklet describes the tourist attractions of each region in the Dominion—the climate, the motor roads, the points of historic interest, the fishing, hunting, canoeing and camping, the principal cities and the popular summer and winter resorts. In addition it gives a summary of the Canadian Customs regulations. "Vacations in Canada" is distributed without charge, from the Natural Resources Intelligence Service, Department of the Interior, at Ottawa.

TO POSTPONE DISCUSSION OF NAVAL PROBLEM

Geneva.—Complete agreement has been reached by the big five naval powers to refrain from detailed examination of the naval problem at the present session of the preparatory commission for a disarmament conference. It was learned here in responsible circles.

The question of reduction of the fleets as a supplement to the Washington naval treaty will be adjourned to a date which will be left undecided. Meantime, the five powers will continue conversations on the naval problem. The form of these conversations was understood to be not yet determined, but would presumably be exchanges of notes between the five nations.

These may possibly develop into a meeting of experts from Great Britain, the United States, Japan, France and Italy.

The main theme of these conversations will be the American suggestion for agreement on the formula for estimating the equivalent tonnage of cruisers, destroyers and submarines by considering such factors as age, units, displacement and calibre of guns.

It was understood that Japan in particular, the most distant of the five countries from Geneva, wants ample time to study the American ideas, which are understood to be received by the powers generally with favor.

Tribute To Wheat Pool

Reference Made To A. J. McPhail In United States Senate

Washington.—Turning through much of the discussion of the farm relief bill in the Senate are references to the Canadian Wheat Pool and its workings as explained recently before the Senate committee on Agriculture by A. J. McPhail, of Regina, head of the Pool. It was frequently pointed out in the debate that the stabilization corporations under the pending farm relief bill are expected to function much as the great co-operative pool of Canada functions.

Senator Norbeck, of South Dakota, prominent member of the Senate committee on agriculture, paid high tribute in a speech recently to Mr. McPhail. Senator Norbeck said Mr. McPhail was sincere and careful in his statements. He emphasized, however, that the Canadian Pool had not brought Canadian wheat farmers a very large increase in prices.

Senator Norbeck, in summing up, said Mr. McPhail stated frankly that the big result of the Canadian wheat pool was the better spirit of co-operation that had been developed among the farmers. He did not count the small additional price they had secured as the most prominent reward.

Canada Had Good Year

League Review Shows Dominion Enjoying Unprecedented Prosperity

Geneva.—"Canada enjoyed a year of unprecedented prosperity," says the Review of Economic Conditions in 1928, issued by the League of Nations, as a basis of the work of the consultative economic committee.

North America, the report continues, it seems probable was the continent where trade developed most rapidly. The United States not only maintained its position of the world's leading commercial country but increased its excess of exports over imports.

Need Coal Agreement

Geneva.—The economic committee of the League of Nations, which has made exhaustive investigation of the world crisis in the coal industry, reported that international agreements between producers concerning output and markets must be made if there is to be hope for improvement. A similar conclusion was recently reached by experts on the sugar situation.

Loyalty Of Acadians

Rioting In Berlin

Communists Suffer Casualties In May Day Battle

Berlin.—Communists in an attempt to "conquer the streets" for May Day, caused an ugly riot in the working class quarter in northern Berlin. They erected barricades, using street repair material, and held off police with rifle and pistol fire until armored cars forced the obstructions and enabled the authorities to clear out the surrounding houses.

At midnight the casualties for the day had mounted to eight dead and 78 seriously wounded. Hundreds of others suffered bruises from missiles or policemen's clubs.

The rioters erected barricades in the main thoroughfare of the Pankestrasse and its side streets. The police charged them repeatedly with batons until the commanding officer realized that his force was too weak for these tactics and ordered his men to open fire. Then armored cars were brought up by the police and finally captured the barricade.

Keenleyside will be appointed first secretary and Arrive D'Affaires until Mr. Marler's arrival in Japan, and James A. Langley, Canadian trade commissioner in Japan, will also act as commercial secretary of the legation. A third appointment will be made during the summer.

Dr. Keenleyside was born in Toronto, but has resided from an early age in Vancouver. He is a graduate of the University of British Columbia and of Clark University, Yemassak, Tokugawa, has been appointed by the Japanese government as its representative at Ottawa.

Canadian Press Meeting

Toronto.—The annual meetings of the board of directors and the members of the Canadian Press, the co-operative news association of the daily newspapers of Canada, extended over three days, were concluded by the election of officers for the year as follows:

Honorary president, E. Norman Smith, Ottawa Journal; president, John Scott, managing director of the Toronto Mail and Empire; first vice-president, M. E. Nichols, Winnipeg Tribune; second vice-president Henri Gagnon, Quebec Le Soleil.

J. P. B. Livesey, continues as general manager and secretary. With a view to giving increased representation to the French language, daily newspapers of Quebec and also to the western provinces, the annual meeting enlarged the board of directors from 15 to 21.

Assassinate Official When Application For Documents Was Refused

Brussels, Belgium.—While walking along a street, Alfonso Arena, chancellor of the Italian legation in Luxembourg, was shot and killed.

His assailant, who was arrested, was an Italian cobbler, named Gino, 28 years of age, a native of Massa Carrara, who recently settled in Luxembourg. He had applied to the legation for certain documents, but his application was refused.

World's Largest Cattle Team

Harlowton, Mont.—The biggest cattle yoke ever made in the Northwest is too small for what is considered the largest cattle team in the world. That was the discovery made by Guy Howard after he completed a seven-foot yoke. Now he's engaged in making a 10-foot yoke which he believes will "fit" the team. The cattle together weigh 7,000 pounds.

Punished For Native's Death

Pretoria, South Africa.—For the first time in many years a white farmer was flogged for injuring a native. Jack Nafa, who tied a native employee head downward by the legs from a tree and lashed him so severely that he subsequently died, was sentenced to seven years at hard labor and the farmer received ten lashes in the Pretoria jail.

CENSURE MOTION IS DEFEATED BY MAJORITY OF 24

Ottawa.—The House of Commons defeated another wave of confidence motion involving censure of the postmaster-general. This time the amendment, which the predecessor, was moved by H. A. Stewart, Conservative member for Leeds, was defeated by 24 votes.

It was a general amendment declaring that "the administration of the post office department by the present postmaster-general has been characterized by inefficiency, disregard of the provisions of the civil service act, the post office act and other statutory authority, and merits the disapproval of this House." Mr. Stewart's former amendment, moved a few days ago, involved censure in the House, Liberals and Liberal-Progressives united in opposition to the amendment.

Votes recorded in favor of the amendment numbered 68, and against, 92.

In moving his amendment Mr. Stewart said facts had been brought out which had started the country. The whole background of the matter was the civil service commission, and the attitude of the postmaster thereto. From October 1, 1926, to February 1, 1928, the postmaster general has dismissed 98 postmasters, and from February, 1928, to April, 1929, eight more dismissals had been made.

In 32 cases of appointments by the commission, rejections had been made by Mr. Veniot. In some cases returned soldiers had been rejected in favor of civilians. He had dismissed for petty shorthands men and women of the postal department all over Canada, but in the case of an inspector who it was shown had taken funds improperly, Mr. Veniot had not only increased his salary, but had given him an higher responsibility in office. The postmaster-general had impaired the efficiency of the civil service commission, and his attitude toward it was akin to contempt.

In reply, Mr. Veniot declared Mr. Stewart had omitted to point out in what way his administration was inefficient, or in what manner he had violated the civil service or any other act.

It was charged, he added, that he had disregarded certificates issued by the civil service commission. That was correct. But he had done so only for valid reasons, and was given authority to do so under the act. He had only done his duty, said the postmaster-general, as head of the postal service of Canada.

There had been charges which questioned his loyalty. These were unjust, Mr. Veniot said.

Would Welcome Naval Reduction

Tokio.—It was learned here that Count N. Sako, Japanese delegate to the preparatory commission on disarmament at Geneva, had been instructed to agree to a proposal whereby a sub-committee would be formed by delegates from the five leading powers to consider proposals of the United States delegate, Hon. Hugh S. Gibson, for broad naval reduction.

WESTERN PILOT

Louis Burks, a student with Great Western Airways, Ltd., is believed to be the first woman pilot in Western Canada to take a passenger up in an aeroplane.

Plan Second Air Derby

Winnipeg and St. Paul Will Stage Event This Month

St. Paul, Minn.—The second international air derby from St. Paul to Winnipeg was set for May 24 and 25. More than 25 planes are expected to enter this race, according to Julius Perit, aviation secretary of the St. Paul Association. The derby will be held in conjunction with the Canadian aviation meet and aircraft exhibition to be held in Winnipeg on the same dates.

The derby will leave St. Paul, May 24, and will arrive in Winnipeg the following day. The route is expected to take in Fargo and Grand Forks, N.D.

Announcement of the date of the derby was made following the visit to St. Paul of several members of the Winnipeg Flying Club on a goodwill tour to arouse interest in their air carnival.

The first air derby from St. Paul was staged last May as a goodwill tour to Winnipeg.

Aviators Found Dead

Two Australians Meet Fate In Search For Lost Southern Cross

Sydney, N.S.W.—Suffering agony from thirst and exhausted by desperate efforts to take off from the ragged ground where they landed, Robert Hitchcock and Lieut. Keith Anderson of the aeroplane Kookaburra died some time either on or after April 12.

The grim story of the fate of the two men who had taken part in the search for the aeroplane Southern Cross, was revealed in the notes of a diary scrawled off the rudder of their plane.

First definite news of the death of the men came with the report from a land party that had made its way over the rough country to the stranded rescue plane.

Miner's Fund Closed

London, Eng.—The Lord Mayor's fund for distressed miners, was closed after it had reached $4,251,000. To this amount the government pound-for-pound grant must be added. The relation for relief will therefore be $8,502,000.

Postpones Long Flight

Berlin.—Captain Helmann Koehl, noted German trans-Atlantic flier, told the Associated Press that his projected flight to the United States with Col. James Fitzmaurice, could not be expected this year and possibly not for another two years.

Tynside Trainees

Immigrants from Great Britain arriving on board the Canadian Pacific liner "Duchess of Richmond" at Saint John on that vessel's first voyage to Canada. The men, who hail from Tynside, have all been trained in Canadian farming methods under the British Minister of Labor, in co-operation with the Canadian Pacific Railway. They are destined for all parts of Canada.

Battle With Bandits

Detroit Policeman Shoots Assassinate In Attempted Hold-Up In Ontario

London, Ont.—Shot in the stomach, Robert Schacht, alleged bandit, aged 29, Windsor taxi driver, and formerly of Yorkton, Sask., died on the highway, following an attempted hold-up of D. McEllan, a Detroit policeman and his wife, who were motoring on a holiday. Leo Derococh, 19, Ford City, Ont., was shot in the hip and lies in a London hospital under guard. A third bandit got away in the darkness.

On a crime cruise in a stolen car, Schacht and his companions crowded McEllan's car into the ditch. Schacht ordered the Detroit policeman to bat 'em over his money. He picked the wrong man. McEllan, for an answer ripped out a .32 revolver and fired twice from the hip. Schacht dropped to the road mortally wounded, along with Derococh. The third bandit picked up Schacht and half carrying him, vanished into the darkness.

Prairies Not Represented

Have No Men On This Year's Blesley Team

Ottawa.—The personnel of the Canadian Blesley team has been announced from the office of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association. There are five Toronto men on the team this year. Ottawa comes second with three, while Victoria and Vancouver have two each.

Five riflemen, including two from Hamilton, who won places on the team, have been unable to accept and the five next in order in the Blesley aggregate, fired during the D.C.R.A. matches last August, will go in their stead. The team sails from Montreal on the S.S. Montrose, on June 12 and will be inspected the day previous.

Those who made the team, but were found it impossible to accept included Sergt. H. W. Burton, Victoria.

FAVOR PRINCIPLE OF INSURANCE FOR UNEMPLOYED

Ottawa.—The principle of insurance against unemployment, sickness and invalidity is accepted and endorsed by the special committee of Parliament on industrial and international relations in a report presented by its chairman, Cameron R. Hitchcock, North Battleford, in the House of Commons. The insurance should not be based on compulsory contributions derived from the state, employer and employees, the report states.

The report continues: "Our committee recognizes that, while it is highly desirable that such legislation should be uniform in all the provinces, and while social insurance has a federal aspect, nevertheless, according to the department of justice, under our constitution legislative jurisdiction relating to the establishment of a compulsory system of unemployment insurance is vested exclusively in the provincial legislatures."

"Your committee finds that the provinces, on being consulted by the department of labor with regard to the securing of the fullest possible data regarding the extent of unemployment and sickness; and that this should be compiled and published as early a date as possible."

"(b)—That in the forthcoming census, provision should be made for the securing of the fullest possible data regarding the extent of unemployment and sickness; and that this should be compiled and published as early a date as possible."

"(c)—That the federal government be requested to bring the subject matter of this reference before the next federal-provincial conference; and your committee suggests, when the agenda for such a conference is arranged that the provincial governments be invited to send representatives of the employer and employee to discuss the subject matter of this report."

REQUIRE LARGER VESSELS FOR THE BAY ROUTE

Ottawa.—Adopting the annual report of the Canadian government merchant marine, the parliament committee on railways and shipping canvassed the whole of the government's shipping activities.

A suggestion by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver Centre, that Sir Henry Thornton, president of the company, address himself to the task of reconstructing the finances of the C.G.M.M. with a view to eliminating the deadweight losses incurred year after year met with Sir Henry's approval.

He was giving that matter his consideration, he said, Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of railways, asked if Mr. Stevens would support such a project if it were brought down by the government next year, and Mr. Stevens replied in the affirmative.

The commercial value of the Hudson Bay was discussed, but Sir Henry was opposed to Mr. Stevens' suggestion that the smaller boats of the company be put on that route in the beginning in order to demonstrate its feasibility. Mr. Dunning felt that in order to give the route a real "try-out" it would have to be done with vessels better equipped than the present ones, and that it was confident however, that when everything was ready a proper trial would be given.

So far as the feasibility of the route was concerned, this had been demonstrated by the department of railways, and Mr. Dunning, who constantly goes into Hudson Bay, Mr. Dunning, expanding on the advantage of the route, cited how one ship, not belonging to the C.G.M.M., had loaded 3,000,000 feet of lumber at Vancouver, had come via the Panama Canal and discharged its cargo at Churchill. An analysis of the costs showed that it was cheaper to transport the lumber in that way than to bring it in by rail from Vancouver to Churchill, even if the railway had then been laid to Churchill. "When the time comes ready to ship grain there would be means found to carry it," said Mr. Dunning. The situation was unique. Most ports had grown like Tokyo, but this one had been made.

Canoe Trip Across Canada

Two Montreal Youths Commence Journey From Vancouver

Vancouver.—Paul Paquin and Richard Lesage, two Montreal youths, started out yesterday on what they hope will be a canoe trip across Canada. Their 16-foot canoe was laden with camp equipment and supplies as they pushed off from the recreation pier at English Bay to the farewells of a crowd which had gathered to wish them "bon voyage."

The canoeists plan to travel up the Fraser River to Lytton and from there up the Thompson River to Skamania, as the first part of their trip. They expect to reach Halifax in seven months.

Plane Races Thousand Miles To Hospital

Carried Woman Critically Ill From Alaska To Seattle

Seattle, Wash.—Ending a one thousand mile race against death, the aeroplane Janeau landed here with Mrs. Peter Kostrometoff, of Sitka, Alaska. A waiting ambulance rushed the woman, who was in a critical condition from septic poisoning, to hospital. The woman was brought in the plane from her Sitka home to Seattle when physicians said she had no chance of living unless afforded expert treatment and hospital facilities such as were unavailable in Alaska.

China's Name For Hoover

Peking.—President Herbert Hoover has been given a new and more honorable name by the Chinese press since his assumption of the Presidency. The old name was "Hua-wa," and had no special meaning. The new name "Ho-hwa," contains the characters for "Hudson," and is extremely "honorable." Both names are an attempt to reproduce Mr. Hoover's name into Chinese characters.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

One wonders at times if man is as wise as he believes himself to be. Under the heading "Agricultural Pests," the provincial Department of Agriculture offers cash prizes for the destruction of gophers, crows and magpies. The gophers are undoubtedly a pest, and farmers are well rid of them. But to slaughter crows and magpies is rather questionable. Opinion differs, for many believe these birds were intended to be insect destroyers and therefore beneficial in helping to rid farmers of crop pests. If the mania for killing birds is carried to extremes, there is a likelihood of finding ourselves in a far worse position than if we had been more lenient with the crows and magpies. However, not being an authority, we had better not express too strong an opinion, except to remark that trying to improve or substitute for Nature's laws in regard to wild bird life is risky business. But we can content ourselves by just airing our views and to speak for those who would far rather hear the raucous "caw caw" of the crow as he calls to his mate in the early morn than to permit his kind to be wiped out by the ruthless slaughter sponsored by the provincial government. Even the crow has his sphere of usefulness.

The death of General Sir William Otter will recall memories in the hearts of ex-service men, especially among those who served in the South African war of 1899-1902, of whom there are many in Canada today. An out and out soldier who climbed the ladder of promotion from the humble private to the rank of inspector-general, the highest military rank in the Canadian forces, he gained the admiration of civilians as well as military men. He and the late Colonel Sam Steele, well known in the earlier days of the mounted police in the west, and later in command of B. division of the South African Constabulary were two soldiers of whom Canada has good reason to be proud. The years since the war have seen many men pass away who served their country well, but it is the inevitable to which we must all submit, and as the familiar figures "go west," the tribute that rises in one's mind is that another good scout has crossed the Divide.

One's outlook on life in general determines largely the degree of happiness they may enjoy. Vision and optimism are qualities that some possess in greater degree than others, but they are qualities which can be cultivated by those who are inclined to allow pessimism to hold sway. Obstacles are bound to be encountered and the true test of a man comes in his fight to overcome them. There is more truth than fiction in the familiar expression of "The survival of the fittest," for we see it in every day life. To succeed, one must be fit physically and mentally, he must have a cheerful outlook on life and must live in harmony with those around him. The successful man does not permit trifles to obscure his vision, they are just annoyances to be brushed aside. Set a goal and keep your aim steadily on the target you set yourself. Work with the end in view of achieving that which you desire, and you will not have time for the petty small things that clutter up the peanut mind.

The price cutter usually digs his own grave, but makes it mighty uncomfortable for others, who are doing business on a legitimate basis while he is digging it.

WE'RE NOT MIND-READERS

The correct thing to do if you desire publicity is to call at the newspaper office and give the facts. Don't leave it to chance for the newspaperman to find out or gather up the threads of something that has happened in which you may be personally interested. He will do the best he can to make a presentable story of the affair, but not being a mind reader, he is very liable to omit something.

The reason we write thus is that recently an important affair in two young people's lives took place which was reported in The Journal. Neither the principals or any person present came to acquaint the office with the details, consequently it was left for the newspaperman to pick up what he could, with the usual resultant experience that somebody had been overlooked. This is offered as kindly advice to those who think a newspaperman is a supernatural being who can see through brick walls and into other people's minds and then give the facts in print.

To have friends one must be friendly. Sad indeed is the position of a man who counts nobody as his friend. A man was asked to define Heaven and Hell, and he replied that Heaven consisted of being as happy as possible on this earth and trying to make it happy for others. If one follows this rule, he will have no need to trouble about the hereafter.

It may be yet that bridge lamp shades and flapper dresses will be interchangeable.

Publicity for Crows Nest Pass Route

20,000 Maps Showing Red Trail From Winnipeg to Coast via Lethbridge and "The Crow" Published

Calgary has been stealing the thunder of the Trans-Canada No. 1 (Red Trail) by marking it on route maps issued by the Alberta Development Board as switching off at Medicine Hat to Calgary. The official route is westward through Lethbridge and Macleod, crossing the Divide of the Rockies at Crows Nest and thence westward to the Pacific coast via all-Canadian territory. It is the shortest route to the Pacific coast from the prairie provinces, and it will also be the official air route.

Tourist traffic through the Pass towns, including Coleman, will be greatly increased as a result of the increased publicity and the fact that an all weather trail is now in use, and autoists of Calgary and Edmonton will now be enabled to make the circle tour of the Rockies through the Pass on gravelled road for the entire distance, returning via Windermere and Banff.

The maps are being published at a cost of $800, divided between the cities and towns on the route from Lethbridge to Fernie, also Cardston and Waterton Lakes. Coleman Board of Trade's share is $60.00. Each town subscribing is allotted equal space on the reverse side of the route map for publicity on its own town and attractions. Coleman's space being occupied by a half-tone photo of Crows Nest Lake and Mountain with descriptive material of the scenic beauties and the trips by mountain trails that may be planned.

The new maps undoubtedly constitute the best form of publicity yet issued to bring to the attention of tourists the advantages and attractions of the Crow route, and a limited number of copies will be available very shortly. The Lethbridge Board of Trade has charge of the distribution of the maps so that they may be circulated in places where tourists may be influenced to select this route for their travels through the mountains. As soon as received, copies may be had from H. T. Halliwell, secretary of Coleman Board of Trade.

In Early Britain---

We have traced the art of Brewing from the Greeks of 800 B.C. up to Ancient Rome. The Roman soldiers introduced it to the early Britons. Previous to their invasion the usual drinks of the early Britons were water, milk and mead (an intoxicating drink made with honey). Beer being so suitable to the climate, and so easily made by an agricultural people with plenty of corn, it was gladly welcomed and soon became the national beverage, being the popular drink even to this day.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

The government proposes to create a national park in Manitoba. It will be in the Riding Mountains and will embrace 1,000,000 acres.

After half a century as sergeant-at-arms in the Manitoba legislature, John McDougall, 83, died April 30, at his home at Lockport, Man.

The King ordered conferred on General Bramwell Booth, deposed commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, the Order of Companion of Honor.

Where the Ashburton-Webster treaty was signed eighty-seven years ago, a plaque was unveiled recently by Kiwanis International as a memorial to the friendship between Canada and the United States.

Iyemasa Tokugawa, former councillor of the Japanese embassy at London, and grandson of the last of the Tokugawa shoguns, has been appointed to the newly created post of minister of the Japanese Empire in Canada.

A shipment of $8,000,000 of gold from Germany arrived recently at New York on the liner "Hamburg." Since March, when the present movement of gold started, $30,923,000 of the metal has been sent from Berlin to New York.

Regulate On The Farm. — Every farmer and stock-raiser should keep a supply of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil on hand, not only as a ready remedy for ills in the family, but because it is a horse and cattle medicine of great potency and a substitute for sweet oil for horses and cattle affected by colic it far surpasses anything that can be administered.

Manitoba Highways
A start on the construction of Manitoba's section of the Trans-Canada Highway eastward to the Ontario boundary, will be made this year, it was announced in the legislature, when supplementary estimates were before the House for approval. An item of $200,000 for a start on the highway was passed. The cost when completed will be approximately $500,000, it was stated.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhoea checked. A vegetable product, a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to give it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that baby becomes fretful, or restless. Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every drugstore has it.

Paint Pointers

In finishing wood it is important that the groundwork be sandedpaper and thoroughly dusted off before the next coat is applied. Dusting is indispensable to good workmanship, particularly in the case of woodwork, furniture and automobiles, where a high gloss is the aim of the finisher, and this holds good whether the work is to be finished in varnish, enamel, color varnish, or even in a high gloss off paint. Without the dusting, even when other conditions are perfect, work will present a blotched, dirty looking, and seedy appearance, and the higher the gloss in the finishing product, the more this condition will be reflected. "Dusting off" does not mean that the dust is to be scattered from any given surface with a rag or anything that comes handy. It simply means that a soft bristle, painter's duster is to be used and that the dust is not only to be removed from the surface under treatment, but also from everything in close proximity to the scene of operations.

In the application of paint to ironwork, the first thing to be done is to get the surface absolutely free from rust. A mere scratch with a knife will seldom be sufficient; a good scraping with a wire scratch brush is more effective. The surface must be so clean that the paint will adhere, nothing does not depend altogether on the quality of the varnish itself. The conditions necessary to ensure satisfactory work are numerous, but the most important are, cleanliness of brushes and surroundings, and a warm temperature.

The first coat on new plaster should be very thin in order that the paint may penetrate and harden the surface so as to form a key for the following coat. Abundance of time should be allowed between each coat.

Spilt, curled up shingles, even when re-stained or painted, represent a depreciation far in excess of the cost of periodical painting.

The easiest and quickest way to stir up a cap of paint is to pour the liquid from the top, stir up the pigment in the bottom, and then pour with a fairly wide paddle, then pour back the liquid gradually, stirring well — with a circular and upward motion of the paddle. For perfect mixing, complete the operation by pouring the paint back and forth, several times, from one container in to another.

It is always best to bed ash, because it very seldom happens that glass is perfectly level on its flat side, hence does not lie flat against the wood. The bedding putty should be sort enough to run freely from under the thumb.

Whenever possible, shingles, for at least three-quarters of their length, should be dipped in a vat of stain and after they are laid a finishing coat applied with a brush.

Duster bristles should be washed with soap and water before being used on white woodwork, otherwise they are apt to discolor the purity of the ground.

Chamois skins for finishing work should never be thrown on the floor nor allowed to come in contact with gritty substances.

Raw linseed oil and turpentine, mixed, is an infinitely better medium than water for keeping brushes soft. Spots of flat wall paint from ceilings or walls should never be allowed to dry on the woodwork. They should be wiped off at the end of the morning's work, and again at the end of the day, with a rag soaked in turpentine. A little labor expended in this way will save hours of hard work in the finishing of the floors and woodwork.

The time allowed for drying between coats depends on conditions of temperature, ventilation and surface. This does not mean that a paint manufacturer who declares on his label that forty-eight hours should elapse between coats is merely guessing. Not at all! The product has been thoroughly tested and manufactured to set on this time schedule under fair conditions, but unfortunately, it is likely to be applied under conditions that are decidedly unfair — such as a cold room, no ventilation, greasy or smoky surface — and in such cases the scheduled time of forty-eight hours ceases to possess any value as a reliable guide. As a matter of fact the correct time lapse might be four days — or a week! When the preceding coat is so dry that there is absolutely no suspicion of "tackiness" under a firm pressure of the fingers or hand, the second may be safely applied.

THE EARLY MINISTRY OF JEREMIAH

Golden Text: "We must obey God rather than men."—Acts 5:29.
Lesson: Jeremiah 1:1-10; 6:10, 11; 8:18; 9:2; 26:1-24.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 26:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

Jeremiah's Call and Conversion. 1:1-10.—Jeremiah was the son of Hilkiah (not the Hilkiah who found the book of the law, our last lesson), a priest in the little town of Anathoth, near Jerusalem. Jeremiah's name ("appointed by God"), and his father's ("Jehovah is my portion"), are tokens of the family's loyalty to the God of Israel, "at a time when the outburst among the Jews of a very different class of personal names betrays on the part of many a lapse from the true faith, and when the loyal remnant of the people were being persecuted by King Manasseh." In the thirteenth year of Josiah's reign (about 625 B.C.), Jeremiah became conscious of a divine call to the prophetic office. It is natural to understand that Jeremiah had long meditated upon his country's sins, but was most reluctant to undertake the task. The inward struggle which took place in his sensitive and shrinking heart when he was different from his ordinary consciousness made him certain that he was destined to be the prophet of doom, he tells in the form of a dialogue between God and himself.

Jeremiah speaks: "Ah, Lord Jehovah! behold, I know not how to speak; for I am a child," Jeremiah said to himself at the moment of his call. Once it was a Moses then it was a Gideon, then an Isaiah, and now a Jeremiah, all of whom re-echo the plaint of their own unfitness. But although their first reaction was like that of Hamlet when he cried:

"The time is out of joint;—O, cursed spite! That ever I was born to set it right."

yet with them all there was no delay in rendering themselves more fit for their tasks.

"There is a lesson here for all who live in any degree the tyranny of their outward lot. There are hard facts against which we chafe and fret. We are set to tasks which we would fain refuse, or we are placed in surroundings which we would fain shun. We are all tempted to turn to the easy ways of escaping the truth. We can learn from Jeremiah the paramount claims of duty. If it be the will of God that you must tread a path that you choose not, from which the weak heart shrinks, know that the blessedness promised by Christ is yours, and cherish the thought of a closer communion with Him who also was made perfect through suffering."—Hugh Black.

Jehovah speaks: "Say now, a child; for to whomsoever I shall send thee thou shalt go, and whatsoever I shall command thee thou shalt speak. Be not afraid because of them; for I am with thee to deliver thee." "Jehovah put forth His hand and touched my mouth," thus Jeremiah years afterward expressed the words of Jehovah which seemed to come to him.

Woman in London Declares Rats Are Charming Creatures

A woman's love for rats has led to a certain quarter of London being so overrun with the pests that official action is to be taken. This female Pied Piper declares that rats are charming creatures and she places food in her garden for every morning and evening. Neighbors have protested so loudly that efforts are to be made to capture the rats by smoking them out. There is nothing under the existing law to prevent persons feeding any kind of animals or vermin on their own ground.

Repainting Wooden Buildings

It is always good policy to re-paint a building before the previous coat has fallen into a bad state. If the work is done while the old coat is in good condition and the same value of paint is used ("value" referring not to color but to the paint's degree of lightness or darkness), one coat is usually sufficient when a good house paint is employed.

If, however, the old coat has been permitted to fall into a state of disrepair, it will be necessary, in order to put the surface into good condition, to use two and sometimes even three coats of paint.

If, owing to the use of a cheap ochre primer, or because the previous painting was applied on damp wood, or because of any other malpractice, the old coat has become hopelessly blistered and is peeling, the only safe course is to remove it entirely. If this is not done, the new coat (no matter how good your materials may be, and no matter how excellently you may have done the work), will be lifted off by the continued peeling and cracking of the old under-coat.

The best way to remove paint from large surfaces is to burn it off with a blow torch. This method consists in softening the paint with intense heat, generated by the torch, and scraping it off while still hot with a metal scraper. It is advisable to employ an experienced man for this work.

After the old coat has been entirely removed and the surface of the wood sand-papered and dusted off in the usual way, the building should be painted in the same manner as directed for new wooden buildings.

Usually an old coat which is in fair condition will merely require treatment with a coarse wire brush and scraper in order to remove the few loose particles adhering to the surface. It should then be dusted off and given two coats of paint.

The first coat is prepared in the following manner. If the surface seems unusually porous, a half-gallon of pure raw linseed oil and a pint of turpentine should be added to each gallon of paint. If the surface is hard and smooth, omit the oil but add a pint of turpentine to a gallon of paint.

The second coat of paint should be applied as it comes from the can.

Both these coats should be applied with the same care as is given to a new job and the general directions for painting new wooden buildings should be re-read and followed.

Staining Shingle Roofs

Use a good shingle stain.

Before beginning the work, see that the shingles are dry and clean.

As a matter of economy it is better to dip shingles in lukewarm water before laying them. Dip them in and out as quickly as possible and wipe them off by rubbing across a stick covered with burlap. Then allow them to drain off in a drip trough. They should be stained for only about two-thirds of their length. Stain the exposed ends only.

Paint is best for old, weather-beaten shingles, blackened by age and exposure. The priming coat should be prepared as directed for house painting and should be brushed out well with careful attention to the ends of the shingles. The second and finishing coat should be applied as it comes from the can.

A Reasonable Question

An eager looking urchin approached a man hurrying towards the railway station. "Carry your bag, sir?" he asked. "No," snapped the man. "I'll carry it all the way for threepence," said the boy. "I tell you I don't do it carried!" snarled the man. "Don't you?" "No, no!" Whereupon the lad broke into a quick trot to keep up with his victim's hasty strides, as he asked, in innocent curiosity, "Then what are you carrying it for?"

Upkeep Of Railway

Half a million cubic yards of ballast, 150 miles of fencing, 55,000 tons of rails, and more than a million creosoted sleepers are used annually by the London and North-Eastern Railway to maintain their 7,000 miles of line.

London has more than 20,000 bobbies—English policemen.

Floor Coverings

Next to the walls and ceiling, the floor presents the largest area in the room, and consequently its covering should be well thought out and carefully selected.

The floor, as well as the ceiling, is a plane which holds the four walls of the room together. While the walls form the background for furnishings, the floor is the foundation. A good foundation is always essential to any well-designed decorative plan.

Linoleum floors are attractive, resilient, shock-absorbing, durable, warm in winter and cool in summer. Waxing linoleum gives it a softer, smoother texture and preserves it indefinitely.

For the average room, a rug with a plain ground and a neat border, or a neat all-over pattern of floor covering, is more desirable than one with a decided pattern.

Large and bold patterns have a decided tendency to make the room look smaller. The patterns are apt to jump and as the ideal floor covering furnishes the foundation for furnishings it is most best made to keep its place on the floor. When there is a great deal of furniture, a boldly figured floor covering gives a confused appearance to the room and destroys its restful, harmonious appearance.

Boldly patterned rugs usually come in a strong coloring, and this also makes them exceedingly difficult to fit into a soft, harmonious color scheme.

Figured floor coverings, however, have their place. In rooms which are sparsely furnished or where the furniture is of a light and simple type, they add to the "furnished" appearance of the room. That is, they take away baneness. In large rooms which are sparsely furnished, figured rugs are particularly advantageous.

In dining rooms, it is usually preferable to have a figured floor covering, as it does not show soil or stain so quickly as plain floor coverings. In bedrooms where the furniture is of a light type, a figured floor covering adds to the comfortable appearance of the room. In sleeping porches, enclosed porches or breakfast rooms, where the furniture is not usually plentiful, either the effects of a bold figured floor covering adds greatly to the finished appearance of the room.

It is wise plan when a highly figured floor covering is used to use hangings or upholstery material in a plain color or in a neat and unobtrusive all-over pattern. On the other hand, if the hangings or upholstery is figured, plain floor coverings are best. Too many different patterns in a room create the feeling of motion and the effect produced lacks restfulness. Too many plain surfaces, on the other hand, tend to make a room look bare and uninteresting. Some figured material should be used in every room, but should be balanced with a proportionate quantity of plain material or surfaces without design.

In selecting a figured pattern, the colorings must be considered first. For general use, strong or vivid colors should never be selected. Small all-over patterns are, in most cases, preferable to large sprawling ones. The tone of the floor covering should always be deeper than that of the walls or furniture, as the ground we walk on is always darker than the sky or the landscape. Light-colored floor coverings are exceedingly difficult to fit into a harmonious scheme.

Laying and Preserving Linoleum

The ideal method of laying linoleum is to cement it over a prepared felt paper, which should first be pasted to the floor with any standard make of linoleum paste. This overcomes bulging and stretching, or opening up of seams and cracks along the edges. It also prevents water from getting underneath the linoleum and in that way prolongs the life of the flooring.

Linoleum laid in this manner becomes a solid, permanent, elastic floor. It cannot bulge or stretch. The felt paper foundation absorbs all expansion or contraction that may take place in the wood floor and makes the linoleum more durable. It also allows the linoleum to be removed without difficulty or damage should the necessity arise.

The most approved manner of treating linoleum has been found to be waxing. This should be carefully rubbed on and the floor polished like hardwood. An occasional treatment of this kind will keep the linoleum in an immaculate condition.

A damp cloth removes all soil from the waxed linoleum and it will be found that scrubbing is entirely unnecessary.

In case there should be obstinate marks of soil on waxed linoleum, they can be removed with a pad of fine steel wool without scratching or damaging the linoleum itself.

Varnishing is best for treated linoleum as it brightens and preserves the original pattern and makes the linoleum easier to clean. A coat of good varnish or white shellac will also preserve cork carpet.

CHAPTER XVIII.—Continued

The rush of wings sounded high in the air as wild ducks passed in swift flight on their yearly pilgrimage to the south. Occasionally a flock would lower in gradually narrowing circles to land with a splash in the stretch waters of the lake, then to rest their heads and quacking contentedly. Flocks of geese passed in wedge-shaped formation, their honking coming faintly from a dizzy height. A flock of Arctic auks, skimming so low that the crisp rustle of their wings could be heard, landed in the centre of the lake with a great commotion. There with their beautiful necks proudly arched they floated like white ghosts throughout the night. The red and yellow leaves, like gaudy carriages draped the deciduous trees. The wild crab-apple and high-bush cranberry hung frozen on the naked branches. The sun was surrounded by a ring and shone weakly through a misty haze. The unmistakable breath of the north wind was in the air.

Old John took his traps down from the loft and oiled them. A patch was found needed to a worn moccasin, and new laces were inserted in his snow shoes. "Winter's comin', ol' tinner, and we're going to have a heavy fall of snow," he mused to himself. For two days Nature gave warning, then on the second night the storm came. A roaring wind came blowing from the north, lashing the waters of the lake to foam, tearing at Donald's cabin with the strength of invisible giant hands, and howling through the forest with shrieking walls. Gust came upon gust with increasing strength, and in the short lulls could be heard the swish of the sleety snow against the windows.

The big trees creaked as they swayed in the gale, and with a loud groan, as if in mortal pain, a huge forest monarch, as its roots gave way, fell crushing down the smaller trees to smite the earth with a resounding crash.

The wind went down through the night, but the snow fell steadily. When Donald opened his door next morning he looked out on a new world. The wizardry of frost and snow had given the earth a blanket of white that was eye-blinking in its brilliancy under the bright morning sun. The keen frost had locked the lake tight under a coating of clear ice.

CHAPTER XIX.

With a fond hope that he would receive word of the Walnwrights, Donald eagerly awaited the coming of each mail; but after a month of disappointment he became less sanguine, and threw himself desperately into work in a vain attempt to allay his heartache.

During the long winter the mill continued operations in spite of heavy snows, the roads being kept open by the continual traffic.

Janet came twice with gay parties to enjoy the ski-ing and snowshoeing. She found that she loved Donald, and decided that any uncertainty as to his past was as nothing when weighed against her need of him. Eagerly she reproached herself for allowing her pride to estrange him from her, and with all the arts of a beautiful and cultured woman she sought to regain the power she once held over him.

On one occasion, when Janet mentioned his "wood-sprite," she saw a rept look in his eyes and caught her breath sharply. The very thought of losing him stabbed her like a knife-thrust.

With the coming of March a change came over the earth. Winter shivered and reluctantly loosed his hold. Gentle showers and warm winds from the south honey-combed the ice on the lake; snowdrifts faded away, and the frost-bound soil gave forth eagerly to replace the keen smell of the snow.

One morning a song sparrow under Donald's window sent out its sweet "chip - chip-che-char-che-wis-wis," and from the top of a swaying alder a wren crooned his joy of living in full-throated tones that said that spring was here. Stirred by the warmth and cleaving buds, the frogs came from the mud, where they had lain dormant all winter, and with swelling throats and bulging cheeks, sent out their cheerful "k'tun, k'tun, k'tun."

Mists covered the lake, and in an open spot near the mouth of the creek a flock of ducks departed themselves happily. The sun grew higher with every dawn, gaining strength each day until its warming energy spread the beauty of colour and fragrance over all.

One afternoon, when the air pulsed with the song of birds, and newly-opened buds burdened the atmosphere with perfume, Donald walked up the hill to Walnwright's cabin.

Scores of birds, returned from their yearly pilgrimages to the south, flitted about the deserted buildings, but there was no golden-haired girl with a welcoming smile to greet them. Rivulets from the melting snows had gouged channels in the once neatly kept plots of wild flowers, and the roof of one of the smaller huts had fallen in.

Donald pushed open the door of the main building and entered. The air felt chill and dank. He experienced a quick depression of spirits, and his heart ached as he surveyed the gloomy interior. He shivered as a pack-rat scuttled across the floor and disappeared under Connie's bunk. With a heavy heart he returned to the bright sunshine, sat down, and gave himself over to a period of melancholy retrospection.

His mind went back to his first meeting with Connie, then on through the many thrilling episodes of the summer. She belonged to high mountains, to deep forest glades, to companionship with the birds, flowers and trees of God's wild outdoors. She would never be content with the bad air and the cramped conventions of cities. He suddenly remembered the words she had used that day by the stream near her nest in the cedars. He needed to hear her sweet, hesitating voice with its pleasant English accent.

"And," she had said, "six months out of every year I'd come right here and live in these mountains."

"She'll come back," he said aloud. The thought cheered him. "She'll come back," he repeated to Andy that night.

"I 'ope so, Donnie."

A week later, Robert Rennie, accompanied by his daughter, arrived at Summit Lake. The eyes of the high spirits. "I feel as if I'm here," he said, as he placed his hand in friendly fashion on Donald's arm.

"The mill is a success—a huge success—and I know who deserves the greater share of the credit." He smiled up at Donald. "Next week," he went on, "an event of importance to the lumber industry takes place. The Government is to entertain a admit that I was proud when the chief forester called at my office to party of Eastern lumbermen. I will tell me that this mill had been selected as the most modern and efficient in the Province, and requested permission to bring the Government's agents here."

They are to stay here a few days, but you never can be too sure, as the train will be occupied with dining and sleeping-cars, loaned for the occasion by the C.P.R. I will come with them, but I am leaving it to you to arrange for their entertainment and to see the everything is in tip-top shape for their arrival."

As Robert Rennie was leaving the next morning he turned to Donald. "By the way," he said casually, "I have decided to add a yearly bonus to your salary, based on the profits of this mill. I have made it retroactive to the time you took charge." Before Donald had time to express his thanks his employer swung aboard the train.

Expressing a desire to be at the lake on the arrival of the excursion, Janet remained.

On the day set for the visit of the Eastern capitalists the sun rose in radiant promise of a typical June day. The leaves were now fully matured, and the willows and maples rustled under the soft, warm wind. All the valley was clothed in a verdant, quivering, gently pulsating life.

The long train drew slowly into the depot. Its occupants poured out until the small platform was filled to overcrowding. Robert Rennie, accompanied by a slender man dressed in a tweed suit and cap, pushed his way through the crowd to Donald's side.

Donald greeted his employer, then glanced casually at Mr. Rennie's companion. His eyes widened. "Mr. Walnwright!" he gasped.

Walnwright laughed happily as he swung Donald's hand.

"Is—is Con—Miss Walnwright with you?" stammered Donald. Then he saw her.

Solitude Reduces Sentence

Many Criminals in France Prefer Isolation For This Reason

In France's modern prison at Fresnes-Fungis, 1250 white-masked prisoners live in absolute silence. They neither see each other's faces or hear their voices. From the moment a metal number is hung around his neck, the prisoner is required to wear a white hood whenever he leaves his cell and he may not speak to his fellows. He sees the face of his guard from time to time, but no other, unless he is sent to the hospital or to the warden for discipline. Alone in his cell, he works eight hours a day, but good will and skill enable him to reduce the time to six hours and the money he earns enables him to buy small comforts. The government receives thirty-two cents a day from contractors for each prisoner's work and gives from three-tenths to half the money to the prisoner. The prisoner never sees the money till he leaves, but half of it is placed to his immediate credit for his little expenses. Yet in spite of all that many criminals ask to be sent here because the solitude entitles them to a reduction of one-fourth of their sentence.

It has been established that seven seconds is the average length of time it takes a fast railroad train to get by a level crossing. That isn't a long period of time to the living, but it has meant eternity to many thousands of motorists who couldn't spare the seven seconds. They risked their lives to save them. Most everybody, in motoring across the country, has on two or three occasions hurried to cross a railroad track ahead of a train, so that they wouldn't have to wait. ### SOME SIMPLE PRECAUTIONS AGAINST INFLUENZA

Simple precautions taken now will enable you to fight deadly "flu" which is sweeping rapidly through the whole country. The germs of influenza gain access to the body through the mouth and throat. Keep the throat healthy and you go a long way towards stopping the trouble. An effective means of prevention is to gargle the throat three or four times daily with Nerville. Half a teaspoonful of Nerville in water makes a most efficient gargle. The germ-killing properties of Nerville quickly destroy any bacteria in the mouth or throat. If the chest is sore, if the throat is hoarse, if you have a cough—be sure to rub the neck and chest with Nerville. Every drop of it will rub in, and out will come the congestion.

Of course it is absolutely necessary to house-clean the system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills which stimulate the eliminating organs, and rid the system of disease-breeding germs. This combination treatment of Nerville and Dr. Hamilton's Pills will give prompt and entirely satisfactory results.
